

The Peace Movement:
How the Soccer
Mom Became the No-War
Mom

TOMMY MOTTOLA: Musical Chairs at Sony

NEW YORK

MARCH 3, 2003

Intelligencer

By Marc S. Malkin
With Deborah Schoeneman

THE IPAD: We hear Apple CEO Steve Jobs is close to selling off his co-op in the famed San Remo on Central Park West. A source tells us that he's accepted an offer close to his $14.9 million asking price. He bought the two-bedroom, 3,500-square-foot duplex with 1,200 square feet of terrace over a decade ago—and poured at least $1 million into renovations. Jobs's broker, Roger Erickson of William B. May realty, declined to comment.